A BLOODY FIGHT

BETWEEN NEGROES, HUNGARIANS AND DETECTIVES

PISTOLS, CLUBS AND KNIVES USED

The Famous Detective, William G. Baldwin, Describes the Fight to a Times Reporter—A Number Injured, One of Whom Will Probably Die.

William G. Baldwin, the famous detective of the coal fields, was in the city yesterday and told the story of the terrible fight which took place among the miners at Blue Stone Junction on the Fourth of July.

The miners were given a holiday on the Fourth and illicit whisky flowed as freely as water. At Blue Stone nearly three hundred negroes had gathered. They went up on the train over the Norfolk and Western road. The train, besides the negroes, carried a number of Hungarian miners and the two parties engaged in a free fight. An Hungarian had his throat cut, and this serious result quieted the mob for a time. The man may die.

When the train reached Bramwell, the trouble broke out afresh, and one of the bloodiest fights ever seen in West Virginia, took place. Mr. Baldwin's detectives were called to the rescue by Conductor Banger, and they responded nobly. They attempted to arrest the two ringleaders of the rioters, and the mob charged them. Then a hand to hand encounter between and negroes detectives commenced.

Baldwin and his men used their stout clubs freely and knocked down nine or ten of the mob. Soon firearms began to be used. Detective Baldwin was cut through the coat and vest. He then drew his revolver and shot his assailant twice, both balls taking effect in the right arm. Detective Campbell was hit in the side by a pistol ball, but not seriously wounded. Robertson, another officer, had his hat broken.

A number of citizens of Bramwell came to the rescue, and thus reinforced the squad of officers, and succeeded in filling the jail with the most dangerous of negroes. The mob was then dispersed.

BILLIARDS LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Rice Wins a Closely Contested Game From Mr. Ryan.

The game of billiards at Marshall's cafe, last night between Mr. Edward Ryan, of Baltimore, and Mr. A. Rice, of Washington, was won by the latter, he making 200 points to Ryan's 371. The largest run was made by Mr. Ryan, he being 12. Several runs of 25 and 30 were made by both gentlemen. Time of game 1 hour and 20 minutes. The match was for a purse of $200 a side.

Mr. Ryan is well known in this city, and for a long time traveled for a Philadelphia house. He recently played Mr. Roche, of Lynchburg, in this city, who claims to be the champion of Virginia. Another fine game is expected to be played here, some time during the month of July.

Mr. Rice and a gentleman of Richmond, who also claims the championship of the State, for a purse of $500. Mr. Rice contemplates leaving here, and will open up first class billiard establishment if suitable rooms can be gotten.

ELECTION OF TEACHERS.

Who will Teach the Young Idea How to Shoot Next Session.

The school board met last night, and the following teachers were elected for the coming session: Professor J. P. Maury, principal First ward school; and Professor Charles C. Marshall, principal Third ward school, and the following teachers: Miss Lillian A. Eckloff, Cora M. Board, Maggie Mitchell, Addie R. Trent, Ida G. Hockaday, Mary F. Stone, Mary V. Thomas, Mary W. Knox, Mary V. Brown, and Mr. T. R. Beckham. The following are supply teachers: Misses Electra Smith, Mary L. Valden, Mary Berlin, and Nina Graves.

All these teachers were chosen subject to being assigned to positions by the superintendent.

The following colored teachers were chosen: D. W. Harth, principal; Lucy Addison, Rachel Harth, and Susie T. Barnett.

Roanoke Men Hoped It.

A syndicate, composed of Messrs. J. H. Sands, James S. Simmons, C. O'Leary, M. M. Rogers and A. S. Asberry, of Roanoke, have taken $700,000 worth of stock in the all stock not already allotted to various places and in the hands of agents and others who held short options therefor. This virtually secures the placing of every share of the stock in the hands of the syndicate. The gentlemen who compose the syndicate are well known as among the shrewdest and best business men of Roanoke, and their taking so much stock gives assurance that the stock is not only very desirable, but that with such enterprise, capital and foresight that these gentlemen are noted for, Roanoke will at once take a front rank among the greatest and best enterprises of Virginia, Lynchburg Advance.

A Daring Thief.

Some enterprising thief entered Mr. T. E. Parthen's residence on Eighth avenue Sunday night and stole a coat and vest belonging to Mr. Parthen, and several articles of wearing apparel of minor value. The thief was a very daring one.

Convalescent.

Rev. D. C. White, who was so badly hurt at Thaxton's Saturday evening by jumping off a train, is better. He had his nose broken, and received a shock which produced concussion of the brain.

Foot Mashed.

Alek Anderson, a colored man, had his right foot badly mashed yesterday morning by being run over by a wagon heavily loaded with rock.

A ROANOKE PASTOR HONORED.

His Work in the Sunday School Recognized at the Convention.

It is truly gratifying to the many friends of the talented pastor of St. Mark's Lutheran Church of this city to find him taking so prominent a part in Sunday School school work. At the great International Sunday School Convention, which he attended recently in St. Louis, he was elected secretary of the convention, and entered largely into the deliberations of the executive committee. During the meeting of the convention he was also introduced by Chairman Jacobs, and made a forcible speech in favor of the importance of "Clearness of Instruction," and among other pertinent remarks said that "the road to heaven should be made as clear to the child's mind as the way to its earthly home."

Mr. Bushnell is also chairman of the committee on Sunday school literature of the United Synod of the Lutheran church in the South, and at the same time vice president of the Virginia State Sunday School Association.

Amid the press of his many other duties he lately furnished, by special request of the board of trustees, for the July number of the Nagsburg Sunday School Teacher, published by the Lutheran Publishing Society, of Philadelphia.

Pastor Bushnell is a life worker and well deserves such honorable recognition.

RAILROAD NOTES

Of Interest to the People of Roanoke and Vicinity.

Five cars of a freight train were thrown from the track in the West End yards of the Norfolk and Western railroad yesterday, and considerable damage done. No one was injured. The accident was occasioned by the switchman throwing the switch wrong. It took several hours to replace the derailed cars.

Walter Cressy, a popular fireman on shifting engine No. 12, was given charge of an engine yesterday. The promotion is a deserved one.

No. 3 was so crowded when it reached the city yesterday evening that it was necessary to annex car No. 267, a combined passenger and baggage car, built at the mouth of the river, in order to accommodate the passengers.

James Haley had his left hand badly mashed and lacerated yesterday morning while unloading a car load of lumber on the Norfolk and Western road.

Hustings Court.

The civil term of the Hustings court convened yesterday. The grand jury, J. H. Featherstone, foreman, was sworn and charged, and presented the following indictments:

Samuel Wright, James Otey, William Sadler, George Smith, felony.

They then adjourned until 10 o'clock this morning.

The court yesterday was in session, and a charter of incorporation to the James S. Simmons Real Estate Company.

An ordinary and retail license was granted to Charles J. Ormsby.

On motion of Elizabeth Wingfield, the court yesterday was in session, and a charter of incorporation to the James S. Simmons Real Estate Company.

On motion of J. B. Traynham, sergeant, C. M. Turner, C. W. Thomas, G. L. Bennett and W. M. Danahy were appointed appraisers. The bar and retail liquor license of John McCarthy were transferred to M. J. Kelly.

Ten Dollars Stolen.

Quite a ripple of excitement pervaded the social circles of Peach and Honey Hill yesterday morning, when Cornelius Lane announced that his horse had been entered when he was down at the stable yesterday, and his trunk robbed of ten dollars in money. He commenced making some investigations, and as a result, he found several parties who had seen a colored man enter his house about that time wearing a top hat and a cane, and who were carrying a trunk and a bag. He commenced making some investigations, and as a result, he found several parties who had seen a colored man enter his house about that time wearing a top hat and a cane, and who were carrying a trunk and a bag.

Virginia's Freak of Nature.

SANDWICH, Va., July 5.—Colonel Thomas D. Woods, who lives in the heart of the county, has in his poultry yard a hen that is truly a freak of nature. The hen is now about five years old. She grew up to be perfectly black. When two years old she was white, but she began to make her appearance. They continued to increase until she became perfectly white. She remained white nearly two years when black feathers again began to appear. They have increased so that she is now a perfect black. This seems to be a remarkable case, and is, perhaps, without a precedent.

Midway Iron Company.

Four car loads of machinery for the spike and bolt works, now being erected in the eastern part of the city, have arrived, and are awaiting to be unloaded. The building is being hurried to completion, the lumber having all been placed on the scene, and as soon as completed the machinery will be placed in position and the plant put in operation.

To Be Built This Month.

Bids for the proposed bridge across Roanoke river to be built by the Gas and Water Company, have been asked for, and it is expected that work upon their construction will be commenced not later than the latter part of the present month. In the meantime Jefferson street will be macadamized, and other pleasant and substantial driveways be made.
